

Exclusions and Exemptions from School Attendance

The principal, under the direction of the Superintendent, may exclude any student from school if that student is in a condition, which renders him/her a source of offense or danger to the other students on account of filthiness, vermin or parasites, or contagious disease.

Parents will be notified before students are sent home. When possible, transportation will be arranged by the parent. The public health nurse may be asked to assist parents in obtaining care for the children excluded from school for the above reasons.
